PARK(ing) Day

Sign-Up to Participate!
Friday, September 19th 2008

PARK(ing) Day is a one-day, global event where artists, activists, and citizens collaborate to temporarily transform parking spots into "PARK(ing)" spaces: temporary public parks.

The idea began in 2005 with a San Francisco artist group, and is now spearheaded nationally by The Trust for Public Land (TPL).

Feet First and TPL, along with Seattle Parks Foundation, invite community organizations, businesses, and other collectives to stage PARK(ing) spaces in their neighborhoods. Join Seattle in showing your love of open space on Sept. 19th, 2008.

If you're interested, fill out the form below and return it to Feet First by mail or email. Then come to the Feet First PARK(ing) Day workshop on August 13th to learn more about creative ideas for your PARK(ing) spot, resources, permitting, and to nail down other specifics like location. Full details:

PARK(ing) Day workshop
August 13th -- 6pm to 7:30 pm
Triad Urban Center, 701 3rd Ave Seattle, WA 98104

FILL OUT AND RETURN TO FEET FIRST (BY PRINTING AND MAILING TO 2019 THIRD AVENUE, SUITE 110, SEATTLE WA 98121, OR JUST EMAIL THE FOLLOWING INFORMATION TO ELLIE@FEETFIRST.INFO)

Organization or individual name*:

Contact: Phone: Email:

Desired Neighborhood or location for your PARK(ing) Space:

If you are an individual and want to take part, also let us know whether you can organize a space yourself or simply want to participate.

RETURN THIS FORM BY AUGUST 15TH.

For more PARK(ing) Day photos, videos, and information, view the National PARK(ing) Day website: http://www.parkingday.org/index.html.

The Trust for Public Land — Conserving Land for People

feet first — Building Walkable Communities

Seattle Parks Foundation

Re REBAR rebargroup.org